WE NOMINATE

Mary Lilly (Mrs. Geoffrey) Sage who this week—as the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross quietly and purposefully observes the 45th anniversary of its founding—returns to TOWN TOPICS' front page in recognition of all she has accomplished as the Chapter's Executive Director. While the Red Cross' enduring strength is rooted in the volunteer spirit, and in its capacity for rising to meet human needs, its sense of continuity and its adaptability to the demands of the moment are attributable in large measure to the skill and dedication of professional workers of Mrs. Sage's calibre.

Of all of the services carried forward by the Princeton Chapter the two most closely identified with this 54-year old native of Ellicott City, Md., are the ever-growing Junior Red Cross and the 10-year old Blood Donor Program. The former, chartered 42 years ago in the heat of World War I, now reaches out to nearly 10,000 youngsters in 26 public, parochial and independent schools and provides an excellent training-ground for future community leaders. Jointly sponsored by Princeton Hospital and the Red Cross, the Free Blood Donor Service has over the span of a brief decade given some 10,000 pints to Hospital patients.

The scope of Mrs. Sage's far-reaching interests are reflected in the Junior Red Cross, whose membership has practically doubled in the past six years. During the last school year ARC Juniors in Princeton High School scored a resounding success with their 'Teen-Age Safety Program and also strengthened the Blood Service. Each year the U. S. Army Hospital at Fort Dix, the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and Princeton Hospital receive literally 1,000's of Junior-made items. Last Christmas, for instance, the High School attracted national attention when Juniors shipped 284 gift-packed stockings to hospitalized members of the Armed Forces.

Mrs. Sage, the wife of the Princeton Area's energetic Director of Civil Defense and Disaster Control, has been associated with the Princeton Chapter ever since she first saw Nassau Street in the fall of 1942. With her husband's assignment to the staff of the Princeton Naval Training Schools, she reported for duty as a volunteer—as she had previously done at the Bremerton, Wash., Navy Yard in 1939, subsequently in New York City and again in Baltimore during the period her husband, a career naval officer, was commanding a vessel in the North Atlantic. In June, 1944, she was named to the post of Executive Secretary.

Although an associate insists that Mrs. Sage's first love is now the Junior Red Cross, the Executive Secretary, an alumna of Johns Hopkins University and for some eight years a teacher in Baltimore schools, has been closely affiliated with all of the forward strides the Red Cross has taken in the past 15 years. Upon her has fallen the burden of hundreds upon hundreds of Home Service Calls, the organization and direction of new humanitarian services and the myriad details involved in administering undertakings that in each month of 1959 involve some 650 volunteer workers.

For "understanding that the satisfaction of a job well done is infinitely more important than any tangible reward;" for constantly and effectively working for Princeton's best interests; for relishing opportunities for doing things for others; she is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

This Is PRINCETON

ONE DAY, LONG AGO . . .

At New Brunswick in 1869. There were almost as many players (25 on a side) as there were spectators (less than 100), when Princeton and Rutgers staged the first game of what was to become a colossus in the world of intercollegiate athletics. It was 90 years ago this fall, the site was an unmarked field near the campus of the New Brunswick institution and the men from the banks of the Raritan won, 6 to 4.

They met last year, too, 28 to 0, for their most one-sided triumph in the nation's oldest rivalry, thus setting the stage on Saturday for what promises to be one of the East's most interesting football games. When the 1959 teams write the latest chapter in this colorful book of athletic history, the players (11 on a side) will draw one of the largest opening-day crowds in Princeton history (some 35 to 40,000 spectators.)

Interest in both communities is running unusually high, and before mid-week Rutgers had requested an increase in its initial allotment of 9,000 tickets. Optimism in the opposition camp is also high, traceable to a combination of good holdover material from the team that won a year ago and the open-faced belief in victory credited to the Rutgers coach.

John R. Stiegman, long-time member of the Princeton coaching fraternity who is now in his fourth year as chief of staff at Rutgers, engineered last September's victory. Having announced that he was planning to do so, he was merely calling his shot; this fall, the forthright Mr. Stiegman has said in effect: "Watch—we're going to do it again."

Such an approach to a highly-prized victory is sharp in contrast to the normally conservative pre-game comment ("We'll be in there battling all the way"), or the professionally pessimistic lament ("We'll be lucky if we can hold them to three or four touchdowns.") Memories of last year's game, blending with the prospect of two consecutive victories in Palmer Stadium for the first time in Rutgers' history, make it entirely possible that there will be more followers of the Scarlet than of the Orange and Black sitting in on Saturday's proceedings.

In New Brunswick, this is considered "the game" of the year, the victory that Rutgers cherishes most. In Princeton, while the ties and the tradition of the rivalry with Yale supersede any other athletic relationship, the feeling is growing that victory over Rutgers is wholly essential to launching a season satisfactorily.

Such a clash of mutual desires will tend to make Palmer Stadium an action-packed sports arena on Saturday afternoon.

UNIVERSITY YEAR BEGINS

New Buildings Dot the Scene. While it is no longer true that activity in Princeton starts and stops according to the whims of the Princeton University academic calendar, the increased pace of fall activity is still symbolized by the University's opening exercises and the return of 3,000 undergraduates to the campus.

This week, some 2,997 of them, the largest number since the immediate post-war years, returned or arrived for the first time. The enrollment was swelled by a mammoth freshman class of 801, representing 460 different secondary schools and selected from 4,757 applicants.

After listening to President Robert F. Goheen's opening address in the University Chapel on Sunday morning, a good number of these students toured the campus to take a look at what Princeton is doing to accommodate the larger enrollment and relieve overcrowding that already existed. What they saw was the largest number of simultaneous major construction projects in recent years.

Ground has been broken for the huge dormitory quadrangle on the site formerly occupied by the university tennis courts adjacent to Patton Hall. The quadrangle's five dormitory units, accommodating 270 undergraduates, will include recreational facilities for 400 and dining facilities for 250.

This project is scheduled for completion on 1 September. Meanwhile, 27 new tennis courts have been built on Brokaw Field to replace the Patton courts. Additional dormitories to house 250 students are included in the "$53 Million for Princeton" capital gifts campaign, toward which gifts of $10 2 million have already been announced.

Steelwork has been completed on a five-story wing of Guyot Hall to be named the George M. Moffett Biological Laboratory and excavating work has been done for a smaller extension to provide additional facilities for the Department of Geology. The Moffett Laboratory, designed specifically for research and teaching, will accommodate many highly specialized laboratories, including four radio isotope labs for the molecular study of cells.

Engineering Quad Planned. Preliminary plans have been approved for the projected Engineering Quadrangle on University Field and also for a new School of Architecture building and a music building, both north of Palmer Physical Laboratory.

Ninety-six faculty apartments, half of them with two bedrooms and half three, will be built overlooking Lake Carnegie behind the Class of 1887 Boat House and preliminary plans have been approved for four dormitories to house 125 single graduate students near the Graduate College. Ground was broken last week between Murray Place and University Field on a computer building which will be financed by the Institute for Defense Analyses, the Department of Defense and the university.

PERSONALITIES

Norvell B. Samuels, 174 Prospect Avenue, whose personal record as a football fan typifies the high interest in the sport that permeates a college town. On Saturday afternoon, when Princeton and Rutgers open a new season in the gridiron sport, Mr. Samuels will add to his "consecutive streak" of having seen every game played in Palmer Stadium since September, 1920.

Raymond F. Male, 75 Cedar Lane, named this week by Gov. Meyner as State Labor Commissioner after having served him first as an executive assistant and more recently as president of the State Civil Service Commission. This community's chief executive admitted he was looking forward immensely to the new position, but added, "nothing can match the pleasure I get out of my job at Borough Hall."

Scott T. Ritenour, 209 Moore Street, who was instrumental in bringing to Princeton this week a unique conference of architects and churchmen who are concerned with pioneering efforts in the field of ecclesiastical design. Mr. Ritenour, executive director of church building and architecture for the National Council of Churches, scheduled for the 50 men who attended the Princeton Inn gathering, a kind of "Retreat designed to give them a chance to discuss problems they never have time to consider at more formal gatherings (See News of the Churches, page 27.)

ROUNDUP

Pinch-hitters wanted: Township schools are looking for substitutes who can teach any or all elementary grades, and upper grades in English, social studies, science, French, music, mathematics and physical education. Those interested may discuss the matter with William D. Purcell, superintendent of schools.

"One of the worst bottlenecks in Princeton," in the words of Arthur Brokaw, Borough engineer, may be partially broken if the Borough obtains state funds to widen Washington Road. Backed by the State Highway Department and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, the Borough has asked for enough money to widen Washington Road from Nassau Street back at least one block to provide what Mr. Brokaw calls "better storage space" for cars waiting in line to cross the Nassau intersection. . . Money must come from the state's 1960 budget, so the bulldozers will not begin work at once.

Princeton depositors will have another hour to do banking after October 1 . . . Effective that date, both Princeton Bank and Trust and the First National Bank will extend their hours from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. . . Banks will open at 9 a.m. as before.

Andrew Harris, 17, son of J. C. Harris, 7 Cleveland Lane, is in Princeton Hospital as the result of an accident early Sunday morning in which he failed to make a curve on Ridgeview Road and struck a tree . . . His passenger, Morgan Shipway, 17, Mt. Lucas Road, was slightly injured . . . Township police say that young Harris left the road and traveled 97 feet before hitting the tree.

Golfers who participate in the all-day tournament this Saturday at Forsgate Country Club will be contributing to the welfare of Princeton Hospital. . . the affair, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the hospital, brought $8,000 into hospital funds last year . . . The money was alloted to the new School of Practical Nursing.

"A SURPRISINGLY SMOOTH OPENING:" The words are those of Dr. William Purcell, Township superintendent of schools. The reference is to the first day of school when many children, like those at the Unitarian Church with Mrs. Alice Packard, went to temporary quarters. Some families had four children going to four different schools at different times on different buses, but all pupils were in the right building and the right classroom within half an hour of the opening bell. Dr. Purcell commended parents whose cooperation and understanding were, he said, a major factor in making the arrangements workable. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Alan Richards)

TOPICS Of the Town

CAR CRASH INJURES FIVE

Women Hurt as Car Hits Pole. Five Princeton women were injured, two of them seriously, when their car left the road in Monmouth Junction Monday night and struck a telephone pole.

The accident occured shortly after 7:30 while they were on their way to Jamesburg to play bingo. All five were taken from the scene on Ridge Road near Daust's corner to Princeton Hospital by the Monmouth Junction Rescue Squad.

Still in critical condition are Mrs. Rebecca Wilson, 67, of 8 Maple Terrace, and Mrs. Grace Gohring, 72, of 3 Park Place. Mrs. Wilson, driver of the car, has a crushed chest, while Mrs. Gohring suffered a concussion, possible fractured skull, fractured ribs. Mrs. Margaret Kronnagel, 64, of 68 Pine Street, has contusions of the left thigh. Their condition is satisfactory.

Mrs. Helen Carroll, 63, also of 68 Pine Street, suffered minor abraisons. She was treated and released.

South Brunswick Township police said that there were no skid marks, indicating that the brake had not been applied before the crash. They believe that Mrs. Wilson had lost control of the car, causing it to leave the road. The impact broke the telephone pole.

SIX SEIZED IN RAID

For Lottery Violation. A raid under the combined direction of the Princeton police and the Mercer County Prosecutor's Office took place last Wednesday at the barber shop of Claude Mack, 146 Witherspoon Street.

Mack, 62, who lives at 271 Witherspoon Street, was arrested and charged with maintaining premises in which lotteries (or "numbers") were permitted. Also arrested were James Mack, 28, 274 Witherspoon Street; William W. Mack, 36, 198 Birch Avenue; and Edward Miller, 43, Old Princeton Pike, Trenton, all of whom were charged with possession on numbers slips. Arrested as material witnesses were Caleb Jones, 37, 153 Witherspoon Street, and Robert L. Jones, 69, 197 Witherspoon Street.

At a preliminary hearing held the same evening before Magistrate Theodore Tams, all the defendants were released, upon posting of bail, for action by the grand jury. Bail for Claude Mack was set at $2000. The three charged with possession of number slips were released after posting $1500 each and the two material witnesses posted $500 apiece.

Princeton police taking part in the raid were Chief Raymond Mondone, Patrolmen Frank Maguire and Michael Carnevale.

EXPANSION TO BEGIN

At Nassau Inn. Groundbreaking ceremonies will take place Tuesday for the Nassau Inn's new restaurant and enlarged kitchen facilities. These additions comprise the first phase of the Inn's expansion program.

"The Coach Room" is the name given the new restaurant which will provide everything from a charcoal grilled sandwich and after-theatre snacks to the continental dinner priced at $25. Irons and Reynolds Inc. of New York is the building contractor, with William Tabler serving as architect and Chandler Cudlipp in charge of interior decor. "The Coach Room" is scheduled to open in March.

STROUP WILL BE M.C.

At United Fund Songfest. Chester R. Stroup, assistant superintendent of Borough schools, will be master of ceremonies at the United Festival of Song, sponsored by the United Community Fund, at McCarter Theater on October 14 and 15. Mr. Stroup, who has been associated with the Borough schools for 13 years, has been active in the Community Players, the Methodist Church choir and the Princeton Symphony, as well as the United Fund.

The two evening programs, which will be identical, will bring together on one stage for the first time many of Princeton's nationally and internationally known singing groups. Selections will range from Bach's "Magnificat" to a medley from "Meet Me in St. Louis."

Ushers will include board members and permanent staff members of the various United Fund agencies. Tickets, at $1 each, are available at stores throughout Princeton.

PLAN ESKIMO DISPLAY

At Festival of the Arts. Eskimo sculpture will be displayed and sold at the forthcoming Festival of the Arts to be held in the gym of Miss Fine's School from October 17 through 20. Prized by

A special jury of selection will pass on the work of artists who live within 15 miles of Princeton. The jury consists of Harry Leith-Ross and Alden Wicks, New Hope, and Joseph Meierhans, Hagerstville, Pa.

DIVISION LEADER NAMED

For United Fund Campaign. Mr. and Mrs. Percy H. Clark, 132 Elm Road, have been named directors of the Neighborhood Division drive of the forthcoming United Fund campaign, it was announced this week by John M. Reeder, Fund chairman for 1959.

About 400 volunteers in the Neighborhood Division will make 2,000 house calls seeking to raise last year's Neighborhood total of $21,000 to $24,000.

TWO RETURN FROM EUROPE

Under AFS Program. Two Princeton girls have returned from a summer in Europe under the auspices of the Princeton Committee of the American Field Service. They are Miss Eileen Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Baker Jr., 207 Edgerstoune Road, and Miss Catherine Otis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Otis, Princeton-Kingston Road.

Miss Baker, a senior at Miss Fine's School, spent two months in Finland, while Miss Otis, who also attends Miss Fine's, lived with an AFS family in Switzerland. The Princeton Committee, headed by Mrs. E. P. Tomlinson of the Great Road, is in the process of organizing next summer's program.

Two other Princeton girls have returned from six months in Australia under the AFS school plan. They are Miss Eleanor Hamilton, daughter of Dean and Mrs. Donald R. Hamilton of the Graduate College, and Miss Pauline Mills, daughter of Mrs. A. K. Mills, 31 Hodge Road.

Robert Rugg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Rugg, 92 Overbrook Drive, was chosen to go to Athens for the summer but was unable to leave in June because of a serious broken arm. However, the committee awarded him a scholarship under the school program and he is currently attending classes at the Lycee Voltaire in Paris, where he will remain until February.

LEAGUE PRESENTS SPEAKER

Past National President. Mrs. John G. Lee, Farmington, Connecticut, past president of the League of Women Voters of the United States, will address two meetings of the Princeton League next Wednesday.

There will be a tea and reception for Mrs. Lee at 1 at the home of Mrs. Frederick Dunn, Lawrenceville Road, and another reception at 8:15 at the home of Mrs. William Scheide, 133 Library Place. Both meetings are open to League members and interested members of the community.

Mrs. Lee was president of the National League from 1950 until 1958 and was elected to the post three times. During her term of office, the organization grew from 740 local Leagues to over 1,000.

CHOIR COLLEGE OPENS

25th Anniversary Here Marked. The Westminster Choir College opened Monday with a convocation service in the chapel. Dr. William F. MacCalmont addressed the faculty and students.

Saturday's coaches probably have a thought or two about the heat as well as a dry field, what with the thermometer climbing back into the 80's again after setting an all-time low for September 18 with a reading of 39 last Friday.

The Man was inclined to agree that he could provide dry weather and a fast track for Palmer Stadium's doings on Saturday. The period 24 hours earlier could bring showers, he said, but chances for a pleasant, warmish weekend were good.

"UNHAND HER, YOU VILLAIN!" Dress rehearsal of "Boy of Bagdad" displays three members of Mrs. Constance Loux' high school troupe and the director herself. Young people chosen by Mrs. Loux spend several weeks rehearsing one play which they give professionally before an audience of children. Mrs. Loux kneels in front of Barbara Alden, left, a prince; Linda Almgren, a besieged princess and Tyler Gatchell, a magician.

News Of The THEATRES

TEEN AGERS WANTED

To Act in New Group. It's called The Children's Theater, but the adjective refers to the audience and not to the performers. The Theater is a company composed of young people in high school who give plays before very young audiences. At the moment, Children's Theater is casting, and anyone from 13 to 18 is eligible to try out for the "The Magic Flute," to be given in November.

Mrs. Constance Loux, Monmouth Junction, is producer, director, adapter, author, casting director and chief costumer. She also does public relations and acts now and then in summer stock.

"My theater is for young people who are interested in all phases of the theater," she says. "We give professional performances and I teach professional stage-craft."

In production now is "Boy of Bagdad," written by Mrs. Loux herself, as all Children's Theater plays are. It will be given on October 24 at the Warren Theater in Atlantic City. "The Magic Flute" comes next, also to be given in Atlantic City.

Started Six Years Ago. Mrs. Loux has written about ten plays, all based in a general way on familiar fairy tales, and she has given them with high-school casts throughout New Jersey before P.T.A.'s, young people's organizations and summer stock audiences.

She started her theater in Summit in 1953. Generations of young performers since then have left her a bountiful legacy of costumes, lights, set pieces and props.

Boys and girls chosen by Mrs. Loux work back stage as well as front.

"A character who's off-stage for a few moments has backstage work to do before he comes on again," Mrs. Loux says. "I arrange my scripts that way."

"There are never more than seven parts in my plays," she explains. "You see, we travel around by station wagon and seven roles means that cast and director can all fit into the car and still leave room for props."

Anyone interested in tryouts may call Mrs. Loux at WA 4-5826 to arrange an appointment. Interest in the theater is the chief qualification. There is no fee.

"TEMPEST" WILL COME

On October 17. The only American company now touring in Shakespearean repertory, will appear in McCarter Theater on October 17 with a production of "The Tempest," one of Shakespeare's last and best-loved plays.

Arnold Moss and the Shakespeare Festival Players will present "The Tempest" with Richard Waring and Patricia Pearson under the auspices of Dana Attractions, Inc. of Princeton.

Reservations may be obtained from the University Store or by telephone from Dana Attractions, WA 4-1376.

JAZZ DANCE OFFERED

By Ballet Society. Jazz, or musical comedy dance, will be offered this year for the first time in Princeton by the Princeton Ballet Society, Audree Estey, director. The new course is part of an expanded program including modern dance, folk and square dance and classical ballet.

Jazz classes will be taught by Gene Nettles, currently in the cast of "My Fair Lady." Mr. Nettles has had wide experience in musical comedy dancing, having toured with the national companies of "Guys and Dolls" and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

He was also summer replacement for the premier danseur in the Folies Bergeres, Paris, and toured France with "Oklahoma!" He studied under Balanchine at the School of American Ballet, with Katherine Dunham and with Matt Mattox, head of the jazz department at the Ballet Theatre School.

Modern Dance at the Princeton Ballet Society will be taught again by Myra Kinch, known for her work in dance as a form of religious worship and for her teaching assignments as head of the modern dance department at Ted Shawn's University of the Dance at Jacob's Pillow.

Miss Kinch has appeared in lecture-demonstrations on the concert stage with Walter Terry, dance critic for the New York Herald Tribune. The Ballet Society brought Miss Kinch and Mr. Terry to Princeton in this capacity two years ago.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Blue Angel (September 23-26) is a jazzed-up, overlong remake of the picture that jolted Marlene Dietrich to fame in 1930. Newcomer May Britt, who pronounces her first name like the singular possessive, is cast in the Dietrich role and, while there may be some feeling that she has bitten off a good deal more than she is able to chew, Miss Britt is a performer of great physical charm and personal magnetism. Her co-star is Curt Jurgens, who, as always, is thoroughly competent.

Jurgens, a middle-aged bachelor schoolteacher in a German town, is appalled when he learns his charges are spending time at the local dancehall. With naught but his professional obligations in mind, he takes a jaunt to the ill-famed establishment and is promptly smitten with the sparsely clad, immoral Miss Britt. He eventually marries her, loses his JAZZ DANCE is the name given to today's musical comedy dance as it has evolved from tap and soft shoe through ballet and modern dance until it has emerged as a dance medium in its own right.

This course is intended largely for young men and women of high school and college age and older. Some previous dance training, although not a pre-requisite for the course, will be of some help.

CLASSES WILL MEET THROUGHOUT THE YEAR ON FRIDAY AFTERNOONS BEGINNING OCTOBER 9.

Registration and auditions for placements will be held in the studio in the McCarter Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, Sept. 29 & 30 between 5:00 and 6:00 P.M. Please use the stage entrance opposite the Penn Station on University Place.

IT'S NEW To Us

BONE AND BLADE

News in Silver and China. LaVake-Reid, known as an assiduous purveyor of diamond and sterling, has added seve ri new items, to the catalogue. A month or two ago it was Tiffany and now it's Georg Jensen. The Danish silver man sends to the Nassau Street shop his collection of silver flatware and, later, will send silver jewelry.

The flatware pieces are unusual in design, more massive than most domestic silverware with a knife blade that's there for business. Many of the designs have collars between handle and tine, bowl or blade repeating in smaller detail the bold design at the bottom of the handle.

One pattern repeats a fluted motif. Another squares off at the bottom and repeats the square with indentations that look like small steps. (Good for a severe modern table, this one.)

The accessories for this silverware are in full supply; in fact, LaVake Reid can order for you any Jensen design which is not on display here in Princeton.

In the accessory case, you'll see bottle openers, cake knives and servers, cheese spoons, sugar tongs, pie servers — anything you can name.

To its collection of silver by Jensen, Tiffauny and the other designers, LaVake-Reid has added a display of china. In this new group you'll find Wedgwood, Royal Worcester and Haviland, for traditionalists, and Iroquois, Laewy and Franciscan for moderns or for people who don't like to use Limoges every day.

Alligator? The question will cross many minds when you carry one of the new plastic alligator bags at The Cummins Shop, 98 Nassau. The plastic has been worked with considerable care and the result is a life-like — if "life" is the word we want — bag which will probably fool even your alligator shoes.

There are three styles: a big alligator, a medium-size one and a modest little one. All come in black or brown, priced about $5.50. The styling is conservative and you'll find a simple satchel bag with handle.

Cummins also has a clutch of bags for dress-up, made of something that looks like suede or buck. It comes in splendid fall shades like cinnamon, sage green, avocado, grey or black and it has been made into lady-like envelope pouches, some with a suede buckle for ornamentation, others with a side fold of leather to add interest. These are $6-$10.

Then there are the cocktail bags, made of faille mostly, in navy, black or brown. Some are satin and all have silver or rhinestone clips to hold them shut.

Silver Rain

Giving a bride a silver shower may strike you as something likely to tarnish the budget, but you must admit it has a good deal of merit from the bride's point of view.

Anyway, if you decide on such a shower, LaVake-Reid will provide you with an enchanting bit of decoration: a ruffled white umbrella to protect the bride against all that silver rain.

The umbrella is life-size, made of two-inch white net ruffles over white satin and decorated with a sprinkling of white bows and little white bells with silver tongues. The handle is sterling and so is the point on top. "Chantilly," as a matter of fact.

Incidentally, LaVake-Reid has the perfect gift for the woman who has everything: a slender umbrella — real, not white net with a handle in her sterling pattern. It might make a woman feel as though she were going for a stroll with a butler knife in her hand but think of the comments!

girls are $3 and $5, made deep and bold with a realistic mottled look worked into the natural leather. Some are shoulder styles, but most of them are just buckets.

A bucket for mother in brown, red, navy or beige leather, costs $5.50 and has a long brass strip which continues the line of the handle down into the bag. A flap with a snap holds the top edges together.

In the jewelry department, Cummins goes in heavily for heavy Oriental things like a two-inch wide bracelet made of "gold" characters from Chinese calligraphy embellished with jade — well, green — figures of philosophers and things.

Then there's a dull gold pendant hung from a big gold chain. The pendant has four sections, each one with a gold figure superimposed. The same robed figures are used in matching earrings.

Medallions of all kinds show up well against sweaters. Most of the medallions are round and gold, but some are misshapen, as though the maker had squeezed a disc of wet clay. These are supposed to look Gothic or Egyptian and they have antique profiles. Others are round with colored enamel which provides the background for gold shields.

New scarab bracelets at $2 are almost like the real stones that cost $30. Cummins has both. Try and tell the difference.

For collectors of truly fine jewelry, the shop has exquisite pieces of Wedgwood jasperware. Earrings and pins in blue or green are priced from $18.70 for the earrings, from $16.50 for the pins. The pins have a small, almost invisible loop at the top which will accommodate a chain if you want to wear your pin as a pendant.

Elementary Needs. Just because school has started, don't think that children regard their wardrobes as complete. Many a winter coat is yet unbought and what about those occasions when "I've just got to have a new dress"?

Allen's, on Nassau Street, has a fine outdoor coat of Burlskin, a vinyl that looks like leather. Comes in tan, with caramel alpaca collar and trim, or red with white. There is also an iridescent plaid with an improbable olive alpaca that really looks quite suitable.

Dress-up coats include navy and camel boy coats, plus a handsome brown tweed with collar that crosses to button snugly under the chin. A band of dark brown alpaca is soft against the skin.

Double-breasted tweed in pale violet-grey has a round collar and so does a grey chinchilla, double-breasted, with pale blue buttons.

Jumpers abound on the Allen racks. A corduroy one in grey, red or dark brown, has brass buttons. And there's a plaid orlon one with triangular ringed neck scarf and pin, like a kilt. Another plaid one in greys, is made out of corduroy. And there is a very, very small olive green jumper with olive paisley blouse about the size of a doll dress.

For boys — and Allen's stocks supplies up to size 20—there are dozens of plaid water-repellent jackets, one in yellow and green, another in Tattersall, one in lumber-Jack red and black. Ribbed poplin in dark grey makes another jacket for bigger boys. And of course, there are navy and brass blazers and lots of very tweedy sports jackets.

Knit jersey sport shirts (washable) combine tan and gold or navy and red in interesting ways. One is fastened with brass buttons like knobs of rope.

There's a paisley shirt with matching belt that goes through the loops on a pair of grey flannels. This is for small customers. So is a 3rd gingham shirt which tops a pair of grey flannels. The pants are enlivened by a red fire engine that snorts and chuffs on the right thigh.

position and, ultimately, his self-respect. The painful degeneration of his character is masterfully limned by Jurgens.

The picture moves with unfortunate slowness through much of its 107 minutes and, in spite of the good performances, it veers dangerously close to melodrama at several points. It's biggest selling point is Miss Britt, who comes closer to projecting a truly individual appeal than most "discoveries" of the past few years. The film is in CinemaScope and color.

The Horse's Mouth (September 27-30). Alec Guinness puts on the smock of Joyce Cary's ruffish artist, Gully Jimson, and paints a hilarious portrait of the artist in a meat-and-potatoes middle class society. If Guinness hasn't quite the Falstaffian build for Jimson, he does have the leering eye and the pleasingly wicked manner.

The movie's funniest scene, and readers of the book will be happy to hear this, is the magnificent sequence in which Jimson takes over and spreads himself, quite literally, over the luxury apartment of an absentee tenant.

The Dickensian richness of character in Cary's novel has been retained in the movie and the color by Technicolor helps things along, too. One question the movie has to face, of course, is a question Cary could dodge: do Jimson's pictures really reveal him to be an unrecognized genius? Audiences must decide.

THE GARDEN

Marty (September 24-26). This 1955 prize-winner comes back to the Garden for slice-of-life fans who missed, first time round, the story of Paddy Cheyevsky's Bronx butcher and the schoolteacher.

Ernest Borgnine plays the plump, kind, love-lorn sausage who yearns for something warmer than a side of beef from his deep freeze. Betsy Blair is on the other side of the counter.

The movie was adapted from Cheyevsky's television play and has the same painstaking realism of speech, action and background. Outstanding photography.

Blue Denim (September 28-30) put Hollywood into one of its inimitable dilemmas. How to make a picture hinging on abortion without mentioning the Production Code-forbidden word. The solution, of course, was to use all the leering circumlocutions of the sexual vocabulary: "in trouble," "take care of it," and so forth, and the result is a picture less straightforward and, more important, less wholesome than if they had simply mentioned the appropriate English words. Though it has been said before, it bears repeating here that many Hollywood films, with their formula taboos, are inherently more obscene than good foreign pictures, such as "Room at the Top," which operate under the assumption that adult audiences are familiar with the concept of pregnancy.

This is not to say that "Blue Denim" is obscene or prurient; to the contrary, its real faults are silliness and puerility. Carol Lynley and Brandon De Wilde, partly through the failure of their parents to "understand" them, become sexually involved and Miss Lynley is rendered pregnant. The youngsters try to get married, but are refused a license. In desperation, De Wilde arranges an abortion (with a doctor who is a caricature of every maternal warning about the fruits of unchastity). In a Lone Ranger finale, the parents arrive at the doctor's office in the nick of time. Miss Lynley's health is preserved and everybody understands everybody else.

There is nothing here that is going to corrupt anyone, and the moral implications of the film are unarguable. But it is too bad that the actors, all of whom (especially Miss Lynley) are fine, should have been saddled with this unfortunate script, the picture is in CinemaScope.

The choir sang under the direction of Harold V. Hedgpeth, with Dr. Alexander McCurdy playing the organ.

The quadrangle of original buildings was first used 25 years ago. The money for their construction was secured through the efforts of Dr. Charles R. Erdman, a founder of the college and its chaplain for over 25 years.

LAWRENCEVILLE OPENS

For 150th Year. The Lawrenceville School opened its 150th academic year on Wednesday with an enrollment of 633 students from 39 states and 17 foreign countries. This year will be the first under the leadership of Headmaster Bruce McClellan, recently elected to succeed the late Allan V. Heely.

Mr. McClellan was officially installed in office at the opening exercises by Edwin M. Lavino of Philadelphia, president of the Board of Trustees. In his convocation address, the new headmaster stressed the importance of each person's doing his reasonable best. "When we become complacent about what we are, we are surely less than what we should be," he said.

A year-long series of sesquicentennial celebrations at the school will be highlighted by an address by Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of Princeton University, on Parents' Day, October 24. Dr. Goheen, himself an alumnus of Lawrenceville, will speak on "The Encouragement of Excellence."

TWO FINED BY TAMS

For Traffic Violations. Fined by Magistrate Tams in Municipal Court Monday were Ahmad R. Haffar, 32, 214-D Halsey Street, and Mark Swaab, 33, 6 Harris Road.

Mr. Haffer paid $12 for an improper turn. Mr. Swaab was fined $35 for failure to have his license in his possession.

WILSON TEA PLANNED

For Prospective Students. The Wilson College Club of Trenton-Princeton will give a tea for prospective students Friday, October 2 at 8.

Mrs. Lefferts A. Loetscher, 74 Mercer Street, will be the hostess. Guest speaker will be Mrs. Paul Leitch, college admissions director, who will show slides of the campus.

TRIP TO THE BALL PARK

For Legion Post's Team. American Legion Post 76 took the midget baseball team it sponsors to see the New York Yankees oppose the Boston Red Sox on "Yogi Berra Day." Fifteen team members, the manager and two assistant managers saw the game.

Those attending were: David Muni, Gilbert Kane, Christie Schmidt, Roger Merservey, Glenn Christiansen, Craig Donaldson, Bruce Henniger, Brian Henninger, Bruno Fablan, Joseph Golden, James Silvester, Charles Worden, William Cirullo, James Cramer, Greg Bancroft, Robert Schmidt, Eugene Pierre and John Donaldson.

BRIDGE CLUB WILL MEET

For Duplicate Play. Regular play for members of the Princeton YMCA - YWCA Duplicate Bridge Club will begin next Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. at the YMCA building on Avalon Place.

Anyone who appears before the starting time will be guaranteed a partner, according to Irwin Kornblatt, director. Mr. Kornblatt, who will serve as teacher for the group, is a member of the New Jersey Bridge League Board of Directors. The YMCA's Bridge Club has been awarded a charter from the American Contract Bridge League and is now qualified to present master points, 20 of which entitle the recipient to the designation of "master."

Warning on Check Passer

A professional "check passer" has victimized two Princeton merchants this month, cashing a worthless check for $20 in each instance.

He is listed by police as John L. Hunter, 155 Genesee Street, Skaneateles, N. Y. Hunter is 42, 6 feet and weighs about 185. He has blue eyes and wears horn rim glasses. He dresses well, has a neat appearance and uses a "good line," police reported.

Chief Raymond Mondone has warned that all merchants should be discriminating in cashing checks for strangers, particularly at this time of year when the town is unusually crowded.

NURSERY SCHOOL OPEN

Just Beyond Kingston. Riddering's Day Nursery, located on Route 27 five miles from Princeton, has places available for boys and girls aged 2-5 on either a half-day or full-day basis. The full day runs from 8 to 5 with the half-day schedule from 9 until noon.

The school is operated by Miss Elfriede Riddering who is assisted by her mother, Mrs. Louise Riddering, and her sister, Miss Kate Riddering, a registered nurse. The curriculum includes arts, crafts and music. There is a large play area on the farm, and the emphasis is on a home atmosphere.

A hot meal is provided at noon for full-day pupils. Those interested in enrolling their children should call DAvis 9-6256.

PRICE AGREEMENT REACHED: Albert Levine, meat merchant at The Food Mart, and Mrs. Fred Briggs agree that inflation is a daily problem besetting consumer and retailer alike. To learn their views and those of other Princetonians, see answers this page.

Question of the Week

Question: President Eisenhower regards inflation as one of the biggest problems facing the U.S. today. Do you agree with him, and if so, where do you feel that inflation has hurt you the most?

Where asked: Around town.

Mrs. Alphrus T. Mason, 8 Edgehill Street, housewife: I think there is a bigger problem than inflation and that is the problem of Russian dominance and the fear of annihilation we are all living under. I would agree with him that inflation is one of the most important problems—second to the Russians. As a housewife, I can see the effect everytime I go to the market. Food prices are generally higher and so are the other essential items that we have to buy.

Mrs. M. H. Fretz, 279 Ewing Street, housewife: Yes, I feel that inflation is a very unsound approach to an economic problem. As I understand it, any government that spends more than 50 percent of its total income to run itself, historically has been known to disintegrate and fall away. I think that economy should be practiced in the home and in our country on a pay-as-you-go basis. I feel inflation is hurting me every time I make a single purchase of any kind. I'm using a devaluated dollar! It always hurts to face what your real income is and then live within it.

Albert Levine, 20 Witherspoon street, meat distributor: Inflation is a problem but I believe it is second to the cold war. I would say that Mrs. Consumer, when she comes to the end of her shopping list with her husband's paycheck, feels immediately the fact that today's dollar buys a lot less. Sometimes a lady will come in here and want to buy steak and has to settle for a pound of hamburg. Even after being offered meat at reduced prices, some still can't take advantage of it. Inflation has cut my business somewhat.

Albert Perone, Rocky Hill-Blawenburg Road, Skillman, mail-carrier: I think that inflation is one of the big problems facing this country but I can't pin-point where it is hurting me the most. You just know it is there and it should be stopped. But I don't know how to go about stopping it.

Mrs. W. Barlow Levet, 381 Mercer Road, housewife: Yes, I very definitely agree with President Eisenhower. Generally speaking, inflation hurts those the most who are on pensions, especially the pensions of school teachers, the clergy and many widows. The pensions probably can't be increased and these people can't afford to take any investment risks. Inflation has also hit the cost of building, rentals and some consumer goods.

Arthur J. Tighe, 601 Prospect Avenue Extension, accountant for Public Service: I don't agree completely with President Eisenhower. I'm for inflation as long as it doesn't get completely out of hand. I feel everybody's better off. We're all making more money. We've been in an inflationary period since 1918. Times haven't been so bad since then. I think inflation has helped the many people get things that they wouldn't have gotten otherwise. More dollars mean more cars, more washing machines, more everything.

Dan Rogers, 242 Witherspoon Street, student: Inflation certainly is a big problem but I might not agree with the way President Eisenhower is using it as an excuse to cut down on many essential spending programs. Inflation hurts the pensioner hard. It hurts the lower class more than it does the higher income class. Inflation is more like a sales tax.

Mrs. T. A. Clark, Belle Meade, housewife: Very definitely a problem. One sure sign of it is rent. One room in Princeton can rent for as high as $75 a month. Food also is going up. Inflation has snowballed to the point where it is going to be difficult to stop. I think it can be stopped but I don't have the brains to figure it out.

Mrs. Emile F. Pierre, 98 Spruce Street, housewife: Yes, it is a serious problem. I have a boy away at a special school, he has "petit mal" and I have to pay $250 a month for his tuition, a lot more than I used to pay. I tried to get some help locally through the Kiwanis Club and the Lions but nothing was ever done. Taxes have gone up, too, especially property taxes.

Mrs. John O. Green, 299 Edgerstoune Road, housewife: I agree with President Eisenhower, I notice it most in food prices and in services. You feel it in everything you buy. As long as cost of labor goes up, the cost of everything will go up.

Mrs. Fred Briggs, The Great Road, nurse at Tenacre Foundation: I certainly agree that inflation exists, and that it affects buying habits. However, there are understanding merchants in Princeton such as Mr. Levine who do their best to keep prices down.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

By Princeton Red Cross. In addition to the need for blood donors and motor service drivers reported last week, the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross is seeking volunteers for many varied duties. Those interested should call WA 4-2404 for an appointment a few days in advance of the dates listed below.

Interview dates have been set as follows: nurses aides for Princeton Hospital, Merwick and Fort Dix, on Monday; Grey Ladies for Fort Dix and the New Jersey Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, Tuesday; motor service, Wednesday; junior hostesses for Fort Dix, next Thursday; and canteen workers for the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute and Fort Dix; Friday, October 2.

Blood Program in 10th Year. The blood donor program is in its tenth year with over 9603 pints given under Princeton Hospital and Red Cross auspices. (See pages 21 and 22.) Hospital patients are not charged for blood, a situation not found in other areas, where those needing blood must pay for it or gain donations from friends and relatives.

Donors are only asked to give once every six months, although it is medically safe to give once every two or three months. An estimated 100 pints are used each month. Whole blood may be kept for three weeks, but in the case of rare types, a large stock is not kept on hand. The program has expanded to such an extent that two full-time laboratory technicians are now needed to handle the typing.

To enroll in the program, prospective donors should call WA 4-2404.

ADULT SCHOOL TO OPEN

Openings Still Available. The Princeton Adult School will open this Thursday at 8 in the High School. There are places left in some classes. A late registration fee of $1 will be charged those interested in attending.

The opening lecture will be the first in the series on the Chinese Revolution for which places are still available. Other classes with vacancies are: beginning Italian, sewing, golf, contemporary movements in philosophy, the musical idea, beginning typing, intermediate typing, speech, square dancing for couples, beginning typing, intermediate typing, speech, square dancing for couples, beginning bridge, art and printing technique of the woodcut, and the recorder.

Two sections of beginning Russian have been filled. The second section was arranged and almost filled on the final night of registration during the open house which was considered a great success by the committee.

SCHOOL NIGHT PLANNED

For Littlebrook & Riverside. A "Back to School" night is scheduled for this Tuesday at 8 for the parents of children in Littlebrook and Riverside schools. A business meeting will be held in the Littlebrook all-purpose room, followed by classroom meetings.

Informal talks will be given by the teachers and administrative personnel with homeroom mothers acting as hostesses and moderators. Refreshments will be served. Mrs. Don Danes is in charge of arrangements.

The following Littlebrook PTA chairmen have been announced for the coming year by Mrs. Marvin Gardels: Wesley Walton, program; Mrs. D. R. Ellis, room mothers; Mrs. Richard Challener, budget and fund raising; Mrs. James Affleck, health; Mrs. E. O. Keizer, safety; Mrs. Ronald Witter, service; Mrs. Jerome Lawson, mental health.

WESTERN ELECTRIC BUILDS

New Units Announced. Two new units, totalling 107,000 square feet, will be built by Western Electric as the first permanent structures in the company's Engineering Research Center on Carter Road, Glen R. Simmons, Director of Research and Development, made the announcement this week.

The main building will be three stories high, 470 feet long by 55 feet deep, with over 77,000 square feet of floor space. To its rear will be a one story laboratory and service building 120 by 170 feet. With its partial basement, it will have almost 30,000 square feet.

The laboratory set 1200 feet back from Carter Road, will face a terrace which has a large pond as its focal point. This pond will provide a reserve water supply for fire protection.

Both buildings, to be air conditioned throughout, have been designed with functional lines softened architecturally to blend with the country landscape. Tinted glass and alone facings will predominate in the exterior treatment. Skidmore Owings and Merrill was the architectural firm.

About 75 of the company's 192 acres will be developed and landscaped, and trees will screen a 300-car parking lot from Carter Road. Western Electric hopes to move into the first of its new buildings by next summer.

NEW HOURS ANNOUNCED

For Princeton Bank. Beginning next Thursday, the main office of Princeton Bank and Trust Company, 12 Nassau Street, will be open until 3 every afternoon, Monday through Friday, with special evening hours from 6 to 8 on Fridays.

This expanded service has been made possible through automated equipment, plus a "twilight team" of bookkeepers who work from 5 to 10 each evening. They sort checks and post the ledgers, making it possible to clear each item the day it is received.

With the addition of Friday evening hours at Nassau Street each office of Princeton Bank will have Friday evening hours from 6 to 8. Both the Hopewell and Shopping Center branches have been open Fridays since their founding. The Shopping Center is open from 10 to 4 Monday through Friday. The Hopewell hours remain 9 until 2 each weekday with the drive-in window open until 4.

BUILDING CENTER OPENS

In Restyled Quarters. More than 1000 home - owners, prospective home-owners and do-it-yourselfers visited the newly - remodeled Building Center in Princeton Junction on Saturday to inspect the lumber yard that used to be Conover and Emmons.

Sam Pillsbury, who bought the Building Center last year, has enlarged and restyled the buildings to include a panelled consultation room where customers may discuss financing or construction problems, expanded display areas for paint, tools and building supplies and additional stock space for lumber or the smaller building needs.

Architects for the Building Center were Charles Agle and Associates, 10 Nassau Street. Mr. Pillsbury is also the owner of the Middlebush Building Center.

"FUTURE IS VERY BRIGHT"

For Opinion Research. In spite of recession, the 1959 fiscal year was the best in the 20-year history of the Opinion Research Corporation, according to the report made this week to the annual employee meeting by Joseph C. Bevis, president.

Sales in the year ending July 31 were $2 million and billings were 21 percent greater than the previous year. Employees will share bonus checks totaling $91-908, the largest employee bonus figure in ORC's history. "The future is very bright," Mr Bevis told the staff.

The president cited the development of Tastemaker Theory as an outstanding achievement of the company during the year. The theory is a new approach to the problem of determining future changes in public consumption.

Two ORC employees received watches as appreciative tokens for 10 years of service. They are Mrs. Nelson Devison, 401 Devereux Avenue, and Mrs. Donald J. Warren of Trenton.

MANAGER ADDED

At Princeton Riding Club. William Gosling, riding instructor at Oakland Military Academy, Oakland, N. J., for over two years, moved to the Princeton Riding Club, 248 Snyard Lane, this week. He is in charge of an expanded teaching program for both children and adults.

Four horses have been added to the stable through Mr. Gosling, bringing the total number of mounts to 17, with more out at pasture. The former steeplechase jockey rode in Europe for 12 years before coming to this country.

Unwarranted Conflict for Funds.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

The First Aid and Rescue Squad is so important to our community welfare that I guess we have to support it, no matter what. At least that is the reasoning I have followed in continuing the modest annual gift I have made before.

But I wish to make public record of my increasing resentment at the fund-raising method which denies the very community spirit to which they appeal for their own support. Each year they send their solicitation just before the United Community Fund, which serves all of us in many different ways. It is a sneaky trick, making their fund-raising easier, other people's harder.

They have easy pickings only because of the self-denying ordinance of the Community Fund organizations which have united for the common good, recognizing that community welfare is greater than easy financing for any single organization. They would have a touch time if all the Princetonians interested in the Hospital, YMCA, etc. should take the position that the common welfare can be disregarded if only their own pet charity is taken care of.

Perhaps the First Aid and Rescue Squad has applied to the United Community Fund and has been been denied admission for some reason. If so, I think we should be informed. Otherwise the go-it-alone policy may well cost it money in the long run, besides damaging the spirit of mutual help upon which its work is founded.

DATUS C. SMITH JR.
29 Wilson Road

(Editor's Note: United Fund officials say that the First Aid and Rescue Squad has been asked to join but has declined. "We would welcome an application from the Squad to join the United Fund," said Thomas P. Cook, Trustee and former president of the Fund. "It is our policy to invite all local health and welfare organizations to become member agencies in our united giving program.")

structor, will give jumping instruction three days a week in Princeton. A native of Clonmel, Ireland, Mr. Egan is considered top in his field on the east coast. He has shown extensively in the old Madison Square Garden.

The Club continues to offer lessons for both beginning and advanced pupils in every aspect of riding. Lessons can be scheduled in the evening since the club has one of five indoor rings on the east coast. Mrs. A. M. Hazek has been owner and proprietor since 1942.

Mr. Patee, formerly associated with Bachman Realty Corp. of Trenton, was active in selling Campus Estates in Princeton. He has been a resident of Princeton for 13 years.

MISS FARLEE SEEKS TITLE

Of Miss Drive-In Teller. An employee of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company, Hopewell Branch, Miss Mary J. Farlee, Hollow Road, Skillman, is a contender for the title of "Miss Drive-In Teller" for 1959.

Using the qualities of personality, courtesy and efficiency, judges will select three finalists. Each finalist will win an all-expense trip to the American Bankers Convention to be held in Miami in October and a wardrobe for the trip. Bankers attending the convention will vote to select the final winner. With the Title of Miss Drive-In Teller goes an all-expense trip to Jamaica, British West Indies and $500 for incidental expenses. The Mosler Safe Company sponsors the annual contest.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why TOWN TOPICS carries more classified advertising each week in the year than all other Princeton papers combined.

SPORTS In Princeton

OPENER A BIG ONE

Rutgers May Draw 40,000. The rivalry that began intercollegiate football 91 years ago may well produce the best contest of the ancient series when the two protagonists meet Saturday at 2 in Palmer Stadium. Advance ticket sales have been high, and if good weather beckons the drive – in crowd attendance at the Rutgers-Princeton game could approach 40,000.

In contrast to other years, when the Scarlet has acted like a lamb being led to the slaughter, it has been widely announced from New Brunswick that "Rutgers expects to hand Princeton a second soul beating in a row." Since the score last year was 28-0, the Tigers have been revenge-minded for some time, and Dick Colman said this week that "our guys are up for this one. It should be a major dogfight."

The Scarlet will take the field with one of the biggest lines ever seen in Palmer Stadium, a forward wall that averages 215 pounds and will outweigh Princeton by some 16 pounds per man. It is a veteran unit, sparked by a fine end and dangerous pass receiver in Captain Bob Simms. John Stiegman, who left these parts four years ago to become head coach at Rutgers, tags him as "the equal of any in the country."

How fast the visitors' line is will determine much of the outcome of Saturday's contest. If it is sufficiently mobile so that it can handle the Tigers on both offense and defense, all indications point to a joyous afternoon for the thousands who will be on hand to cheer the Scarlet Knights. Princeton hopes rest on ability to match the invaders in line play, despite the weight discrepancy, and on backfield versatility superior to anything Rutgers can field.

Tigers Are Experienced. If a rash of minor injuries that bothered the squad last week permits, Princeton will start a letterman at every position—a rarity in college football. No sophomores have come along to displace the top varsity holdovers, with Colman planning to use seven seniors and four juniors.

The Orange and Black is expected to take the field with Jim Blair and Ed Kastelnik at ends, Clark Wooley and Gordon Batcheller, tackles; Stan Baldwin and Stan Shaughnessy, guards; and Captain Frank Szvetecz, center. The backfield will consist of Mike Iseman, wingback; Jay Cullen, quarterback; Mike Ippolito, fullback; and Dan Sachs, tailback.

Kastelnik, Iseman and Cullen all lost time last week because of injuries, but are expected to be ready. The Tigers will miss the Sullivan brothers, Jerry at center and Jack at tailback, and probably reserve wingback John MacMurray. Jerry Sullivan's loss as a replacement for Szvetecz at center because of an ankle sprain is particularly troublesome, since injuries to others at this spot place the burden of reserve duty on the shoulders of promising but inexperienced John Collyer, a sophomore.

In a reserve capacity, Princeton will use a backfield of Ron Goldman, wingback; Billy Marr, quarterback; Don Kornrumpf, fullback; and Hugh Scott, tailback. The latter pair in particular will bear watching.

Princeton Attack Varied. The move that returned big Mike Ippolito to fullback, the position he filled impressively as a freshman, has given the Tigers added punch to their offense. Sachs, Iseman and Ippolito can all pass, with aerials from the fullback slot creating a threat almost never before available to Princeton.

Likewise beneficial from use of Ippolito at fullback will be his play as a defensive halfback, pairing with Iseman. In contrast, when Johnny Heyd and Fred Tiley filled these positions last fall, the Tigers had a 5-9 and a 5-11 defender against opposition passes. Ippolito and Iseman are both 6-3.

Things to Watch For. With Rutgers minus the services of All-American Bill Austin, and with both teams well short of offensive perfection so early in the campaign, a high-scoring contest is unlikely to develop. Nonetheless, action of an explosive nature should be fairly constant Saturday, and neither team is likely to be shut out.

These highlights should be worth watching for:

● Topflight running by Dan Sachs, who appears set for a fine senior year.

● Frequent passes to Bob Simms. He caught 33, nine for Rutgers touchdowns last season.

● Good defensive play by Szvetecz and Kostelnik in the Princeton line.

● Hard running and on-the-spot defensive play by Hugh Scott.

● An early indication of which line is the better. It should foretell the game's outcome.

PHS TO PLAY FRIDAY

Opener Against Mount Holly. Princeton High School will open its 1959 football season Friday at 3:30 on Harris Field, facing the Red Devils of Mount Holly. The Burlington County school is pointing for the contest, hoping to erase memories of last year's 13-7 frustration when it finished first in every department of the statistics except the score.

Coach Joe Jingoli has named a tentative starting lineup for the Little Tigers that should blend experience and ability. At the ends will be Dick Olsen, 185 pounds, and Ridge Applegate, 203. Dick Wright, 183, and John Chobrda, 210, are the tackles; Dave McKee, 175, and Captain Dave Kilgour, 155, are the guards, with Chris Tindall, 165, at center.

Jack Copeland, 163, has landed the signal-calling assignment and will start at quarterback, with little Russ Petrone, 134-lb. operative, at wingback. Ted Meredith, 165,is the fullback in Jingoli's single wing, with 170-lb. Jack Hawkins the tailback.

Hawkins will see duty on both offense and defense for a good part of the contest. "We'll keep him in there as long as we can," Jingoli remarked, "and he wouldn't have it any other way.

The PHS coach is hopeful of repeating last year's triumph over Mount Holly, one of four that came the Little Tigers' way in an eight-game schedule. The visitors, too, have a starting team that boasts considerable experience, including a backfield that has returned intact.

"We've made definite progress since we began to practice before Labor Day," Jingoli said. "I think we're a better team than we were a year ago, but so is Mount Holly. It should be an even contest, with the breaks proving decisive."

In a pre-season scrimmage last Saturday against St. Peters of New Brunswick, the Blue and White clearly had the better of it. The first time the Little Tigers came into possession, they rolled 60 yards in eight plays for a touchdown, with Jack Hawkins' running and passing accounting for most of the yardage.

A Hawkins-to-Olsen pass brought the score, with another PHS tally recorded when Hawkins completed an aerial to Petrone. The latter faked out the defenders to assure the reception.

Petrone, too, had a good day against St. Peter's, completing a good jump pass to Applegate, and turning the visitors' ends for steady gains. Howard Gould, a 200-lb. fullback who plays tackle on defense, was frequently good for valuable gains up the middle.

PRINCETONIANS WIN

On First Day of Yacht Race. William H. Snow of Edgerstoune Road sailed his 40-foot yawl "Si Bon" to a first-place finish Friday in Class A-2 of the semi-annual Off Soundings regatta. Included in his crew were Mrs. Snow; their daughter, Miss Margaret Snow, a freshman at Connecticut College; and Perry H. Knowlton of Dutch Neck.

"Si Bon" won the 26-mile race from New London to Shelter Island. On Saturday, in a triangular race staged in Gardiner's Bay, off Shelter Island, the yacht was fourth, the combined performances giving Mr. Snow's boat a second-place standing in the two-day event.

RUNNING ATTACK STRESSED

By Hun Eleven This Year. If Alex Camevan, 190-pound tackle, and Steve Nelson, 180-pound guard, recuperate from injuries by October 3, the date of the Hun School's opener against Pennington Prep, Coach Hawley Waterman will be able to field a

Rules Changes for '59 Football Season

Five rules changes, of which the widened goal posts are most visible, will be in effect when Princeton plays Rutgers Saturday in Palmer Stadium. In an effort to increase the use of the field goal, the posts have been placed 23 feet, 4 inches apart—5 feet, 2 inches wider than in the past. However, they remain 10 yards behind the goal line.

The substitution rule has again been liberalized. This fall, one player on each team may be substituted as often as his coach wishes—provided the clock is stopped.

Distance penalties are now limited to half the remaining yardage to the goal line. For example: if the defensive team is called for holding on its 16, the ball now goes to the 8– not to the 1, as in the past.

A team fouled on a successful conversion attempt may elect to take the yardage involved on the ensuing kickoff, or to try the conversion over from closer range. Thus a team which has kicked the extra point from three yards out may choose to go for two from a yard and a half away.

The number of times out per half has been restored to five, after having been cut to four in 1958. The effect is to allow additional stopping of the clock, and therefore greater ability to substitute.

team made up of returning letterman in every position but quarterback. This preponderence of experience presages two things trouble for Hun opponents and a good chance to better last year's 4-2-1 record. Hun's first winning season since 1952.

Playing in the backfield, which is being geared for a strong running game, is John Ward, co-captain, from Minneota. Ward though only 160 pounds, is a tough rugged runner who seems to thrive on body contact. At left half is 158-pound, triple-threat Paul Kadlic from Springfield, N. J. Kadlic, the team's top passer, is an equally destructive runner—very fast and shifty. Coach Waterman sums up his feeling about Kadlic, who is also Hun's extra point kicker, in saying, "We are counting on him to carry us."

At right half is powerful-running Al Landis, 175-pound junior from New Brunswick. John Keffler of Titusville takes over at quarterback. Keffer spent three years on the scrubs and consequently is thoroughly familiar with Hun plays and formations. "Keffer," says Waterman, "makes up for his lack of size by using his brains. He calls a good game."

To open holes for his backs, Waterman can call upon a veteran line. At end are 175-pound Peter Savidge from Lambertville and Pat Donahue, 160 pounder from Princeton. Playing tackle are bruising, 210-pound Dave Savidge and Harold Johnson, 190. Dick Freeman, 180, and Jim Stewart, 160, are at guard. Bill Putney and Ross Spier are fighting it out for the center position.

In its first scrimmage of the year against Peddie, Hun concentrated on its ground game. "We found that we were able to grind out 3-4 yards on every play," Coach Waterman pointed out.

"In fact, the only time I think we lost any yardage was on fumbles. One thing we have to work on is our down field blocking. Three or four times we almost had a man in the clear, but we weren't able to take out those key men. Another spot which we are weak in is pass defense."

The 1959 schedule: Oct. 3, Pennington Prep; 9, Solebury, away; 16, Germantown Friends; 23, Tower Hill, away; 30, Friends Central, away. Nov. 7, open; 14, George School; 20, Delbarton, away.

ENGINE CO. 3 WINS

In Police Youth Loop. Engine Company No. 3 hammered in four last-inning runs Saturday to topple Engine Company No. 1, 6-5, before 300 spectators at Marquand Park. The victory gave Engine Company No. 3 the league championship.

The last-minute rally, which saw the victors overcome a 5-2 deficit, was sparked by a sharp single to left by Dougie Watson. Richie Murray, the losing pitcher, gave up three walks and hit one batter during the decisive frame. Johnny Freeman picked up the win for Engine Company No. 2.

Company 3 jumped to a 1-0 lead in the first stanza, but Company 1 knotted the score in the second on hits by Jeff Lowe and Eddie Williams. In the third inning, Larry Butterfoss' leadoff triple, Eddie Williams' double and singles by Murray and Lowe put Company 1 in front, 11. Both squads tallied once in the fourth frame.

Trophies were given to Company 2 players by Wilson Coan, the league commissioner. Jack Petrone, president of the Patrolman's Benevolent Association, expressed thanks to those who gave their time or facilities "to make the Police Youth Baseball League the great success it was in its first year of operation." Petrone said he expects the league to increase in size to eight or ten teams next season.

BOWLING NOTES

Deckers Takes Early Lead. With two weeks of play completed in the "A" League at Princeton Recreation Center, Deckers Dairy with 12 victories, has jumped to an early four-game lead. Grovers Lumber, Shelton Motors and Hulit's Shoes are tied for second place for eight wins apiece.

In the "B" League, Tiger Bus (12) is leading, followed by Jefferson Plumbing (10) and Sportsmen No. 2, Prince Laundromat and Cifelli Electric (eight each). Tiger Bus dominated league action this week with the high team single game (1,009) and high three game total (2,851).

Wengryn Construction, with seven triumphs, is in shaky command of first place in the Industrial loop. Bunched in a six-way deadlock for second place, one game behind Wengryn, are Nassau Del, Nassau Service, Tiger Garage, Para Lah Supply, Crescents and Dayton Five. In the Women's Industrial League, Nassau Service leads with 18 wins, followed by Forsgate Country Club and Five Channels (10 each).

The week's top individual games were rolled by Bill Bathie, 234; M. Basile, 222-201. Jere Silvester, 218, and George Kirby and Charles Perpetua, 215 each, in the "A" League; George Sela, 215-211-185 (611). Don Snyder, 236, and Tony Tamasi, 214, in the "B" loop; Glen Bryant, 221, and Gilbert Ireland, 216-204, in the Industrial League, and Marilyn Lowe, 214-182, and Barbara Danar, 191-178-188 (577), in the Women's Industrial League.

News Of The CHURCHES

DISCUSS CHURCH DESIGN

At Conference in Princeton. Fifty leading churchmen and architects from all over the United States are conferring this week at the Princeton Inn under the auspices of the National Council of the Churches of Christ. The Retreat, being held this Thursday and Friday, was planned so that architects and church leaders could discuss together the expanding program and building needs of America's churches.

"What Lies Ahead in Design" was the subject of the opening address given by William W. Caudill of Houston, Texas, head of an architectural firm which specializes in the design of schools and churches. Other speakers were scheduled to speak on various subjects connected with the role of the architect in building a Christian church and with the problem of communication between congregation and architect.

"It is our belief," said Scott T. Ritenour, director of church building and architecture for the National Council, "that through our discussions at Princeton we can gain further insights about designing for worship and program-building for Christian education."

LECTURES TO BE HELD

By Unitarians. A public lecture series, "Great Religious Thinkers of Western Civilization" will be given this fall by the Unitarian Church of Princeton. The series will begin on October 4 and last until January 24, and its lectures will be given by members of the faculties of Princeton University, Princeton Theological Seminary and Drew University.

All lectures will be given at 8 p.m. at the Church, corner U.S. 206 and Cherry Hill Road. A question and answer period will follow each lecture. Registration for the series may be made by calling Mrs. Rene Braden, WA 4-3414.

Philosophers whose works and thoughts will be considered in the course of the series are Plato, St. Paul, St. Augustine, St. Francis, Luther, Wesley, Kierkegaard and the Existentialists and Martin Buber.

"OLD HUNDRED"

New Church has 100 Charter Members. One hundred charter members have signed the roll of the new Community Presbyterian Church, Kendall Park, and the group will be formally organized into a church by the Presbytery of New Brunswick on October 10. Those who wish to be included in the charter may still sign their names.

At the ceremonies on Charter Night, a permanent name will be chosen for the new church and officers will be elected.

NEW YEAR WILL BEGIN

For Jews Next Friday. Rosh Hoshana, the beginning of the year, will be celebrated on Friday, October 2, the beginning of the ten-day period of spiritual self-analysis with which the Jewish people begin the new year. Yom Kippur, the climactic Day of Atonement, will be celebrated on October 12.

SIMPLICITY—
by design

Today's designers find beauty in simplicity. They search for the form that functions best.

It is a similar search, financially speaking, that brings many people to us. And often they find that a living trust—one created now, during life—is the most practical, sensible way to simplify their financial affairs.

There is no set design for living trusts; in each one, the function determines the form. Let us tell you how such a trust can be shaped to fit your family needs.
